Please note you will not be timed for this one page essay. This will take the place of the Timed Essay. It is still worth 100 points.

This is a one page (250 words), typed commentary on how you think your writing and critical thinking skills have developed over the semester. Discuss your strengths and weaknesses as a writer and researcher. Think back on the writing you have submitted so far (essays and forum responses) and discuss how this writing exhibits your strengths and weaknesses. What have you learned about reading, writing, examining images, researching, etc? How have the texts (and supplementary materials) we have read, challenged your critical thinking skills? As a writer and thinker, what do you need to continue working on as you move on with your college and professional career?
